Always sleeping close to noon
I don't even feel guilty anymore when I see that paper...

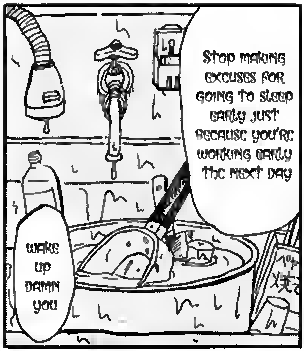
Always choosing the easy way out, always choosing the easy way out
I've gotten so used to faking my smile
Would you like your bento heated?
Working to make just enough to live on and lazing about every day
No good, no good, at this rate....



Stop making excuses for going to sleep early just because you're working early the next day
Wake up damn you

Why am I sleeping here...
If you feel that way start doing pushups from now on
Put in the effort for world domination

How many nights am I going to spend regretting my actions
